

European Days of Conservation- Restoration

Monday 13th to Sunday 19th October 2025

Once again, E.C.C.O. calls Conservator-Restorers from all around Europe to open their doors to the public during this year's European Days of Conservation-Restoration.

Conservator-Restorers are asked to invite visitors to their workplaces: Experts from museums, ateliers, private or university studios and workshops, sites and monuments and present the Profession of Conservation-Restoration and their projects to the public.

How to participate

- Organising open visits to your workplaces, ateliers and labs, or cultural heritage sites that can allow visitors to see the Conservation-Restoration works.
- Sharing pictures working at your labs or workplaces.
- Posting on your national association website and sending the post to E.C.C.O. so we can repost it (only in English)
- Using social media to disseminate the themes proposed by E.C.C.O.
- Publishing Press Releases to take advantage of the celebration.

2025 days and themes calendar:

13th Monday: Sharing an Institution / Educational Center / Labs of Conservation- Restoration

14th Tuesday: Paying tribute to Conservator-Restorers

15th Wednesday: Sharing Good Examples: Conservation-Restoration Treatments of Movable Heritage

16th Thursday: Sharing Good Examples: Conservation-Restoration treatments of Immovable Heritage

17th Friday: Heritage in Risk: Preservation of tangible cultural heritage in the view of Climate Change

18th Saturday: Impact of Digital Transition on Conservation-Restoration

19th Sunday: European Day of Conservation-Restoration

A celebration of the profession! An opportunity for sharing achievements and engaging with the public!

Internal communication

Your national association working group should be in contact with E.C.C.O. Committee Working Group for the EDCR through the following email: e.c.c.o.communication@gmail.com

Members actively participating in the EDCR Week are kindly requested to display the E.C.C.O. logo visibly on their website and credit the network for the initiative. This will help raise the visibility of this E.C.C.O. programme. If you don't have the logo, please contact us.

Further information, visual materials (including daily posters), and detailed guidelines will be shared with members in September 2025.

In the meantime, please save the dates and get ready to contribute your ideas and celebrate each day's theme with us. Remember the success of the EDCR week relies on your support!
